Indicating that your spouse desires language training does not guarantee a training slot. Spouse participation requires enrollment as a part-time or full-time student. There is no audit status at DLI Washington.
22. Self-explanatory
23. Does your spouse currently possess a significant capability in a foreign language (language / location of acquisition)?
24. Indicate your preferred training time
 - A typical training day consists of 4-5 hours of in-class time and 2-3 hours of out-of-class preparation. Class normally begins either in the morning (0800) or afternoon (1300). DLI-Washington will select the school that offers the most effective language training for you. The school will determine the hours of the class based on the availability of instructors and classroom space. Occasionally schools are capable of offering classes either in the morning or afternoon. IF this occurs for your training, please indicate your preference for morning or afternoon classes. For spouse training, please indicate if you would rather train during the same period or sequential periods, if feasible.
25. Is there a unique circumstance or situation we should be aware of with regard to your language training?
 - While assigned to DLI-Washington, your duty is to learn a language. As with any other assignment, you should be able to perform your duty to the best of your ability. We understand that there may be personal circumstances that, if disclosed, could be accommodated to provide the most effective language training environment. One example would be an exceptional family member that would require special arrangements in a scenario where both parents are enrolled in language training. Continuing education would not be taken into consideration when determining training arrangements.
