Office of the Commandant

Dear Foreign Language Educator:

I cordially invite you, your students, and interested members of your faculty and staff to mark Friday, May 8, 2020, on your event calendars for our annual Language Day Open House at the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center. We are contacting you earlier this year because we know that there will be competition for special events.

The upcoming Language Day promises to be a no-cost, valuable learning experience for you and your students, and we welcome the opportunity to show you the finest foreign language education and teaching institute in the world.

In addition to classroom demonstrations, our students and multinational faculty will present stage performances and cultural displays representing the various regions and languages we teach here at the institute. Vendors will provide samples of cuisine from many cultures for a modest cost. This past year, we hosted over 6,000 visitors on Language Day and we are happy to accommodate more.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact our Language Day organizers at (831) 200-4211, or by e-mail: language\_day@dliflc.edu.

Sincerely,
